DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The examiner of record considers the phrase “no mechanically opened or closed switches” to be an indefinite description of the disclosed sensors. Additionally, disclosing what the sensors cannot be, is considered inappropriate. Applicant should provide an adequate description of all the elements of the “electrically controlled device”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Groshong, et al. or Gray. The cited patents disclose an electrically controlled device for injecting and infusing medical preparations in the human body in which device the controlling is performed by a sealed electric circuit receiving signals from sensors which monitor selected parameters describing conditions of the device, characterized in that the sensors are integrated in a sealed circuit block.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Barton, et al. The cited patent discloses an electrically controlled device for injecting and infusing medical preparations in the human body in which device the controlling is performed by a sealed electric circuit receiving signals from sensors which monitor selected parameters describing conditions of the device, characterized in that the sensors are integrated in a sealed circuit block. Furthermore, the cited patent discloses a power supply or battery, a dose setting and injection button, and sensors comprising hall elements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Groshong, et al., Gray, and/or Barton, et al. in view of Kogure, et al. Neither Groshong, et al., Gray, nor Barton, et al., disclose a magnet having the shape of a magnet ring. However, designing a magnet with the shape of a ring is conventional as evidenced by the teachings of Kogure, et al.

FIG. 2

In figure 2, the Kogure, et al. Patent shows a magnet (22) having a ring shape. Based on the conventionality of ring-shaped magnets, for a person of ordinary skill in the art, such use in any infusion system would have been considered an obvious design alternative.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
